

INDEX

Introduction: rusty tracks and what to do with them Ellan Fei Spero • Hugo Silveira Pereira	___ 011
PART 1: RUSTY TRACKS AS HERITAGE	___ 017
1.1. Railway Heritage: an overview Günter Dinhobl	___ 019
1.2. From railways to heritage: the closure of railway lines in Spain and their valorisation as a cultural good Domingo Cuéllar	___ 035
1.3. Railways: industrial and maritime archaeology, geographic information systems, history and culture Dominic Fontana	___ 055
1.4. A new age of steam? The Tua valley line, Portugal: experience and examples from the technological heritage operations and preserved railways of Britain Dominic Fontana	___ 063
1.5. Two case-studies in heritage and valorisation of old mountain railways in France Michel Cotte	___ 083
1.6. Railways and tourism in Italy Stefano Maggi	___ 107

PART 2: NEW APPROACHES TO OLD RAILWAYS	___ 121
2.1. Opening of mountainous and peripheral regions by main and branch railway lines Günter Dinhobl	___ 123
2.2. Exploring cultural landscape with old railway tracks Stefan Brauckmann	___ 135
2.3. Vanishing tracks: short history of a cancelled line Ivona Grgurinović	___ 149
2.4. Remembering railway's past, conjuring up its future: what rail hikers have in mind while walking on rusty tracks Peter F. N. Hörz	___ 159
2.5. Dismantling an old rail track: opportunities in the Tua Valley Paulo B. Lourenço • Graça Vasconcelos • Lurdes Martins	___ 175

PART 3: PRACTICAL APPLICATIONS	___ 189
3.1. Redesigning the classical Railrider: a transportable prototype for modern ages	___ 191
Carlos Barbosa • João Figueiredo • Jorge Marques • Lídia Teixeira • Miguel Oliveira • Eduardo Beira • António Araújo
3.2. The Old Road: reusing, interpreting and commemorating an abandoned railway in southern England, 1964–2015	___ 205
Colin Divall
3.3. Life, death and resurrection: further examples from the British experience of preserving railway and industrial heritage	___ 229
Dominic Fontana
3.4. Draisine tourism in Germany: ideas for the Tua line?	___ 241
Stefan Brauckmann
3.5. An example of renovation: adaptation of an old railway mountain line – the Chemin De Fer de l’Ardèche (South-Eastern France)	___ 253
Michel Cotte
BIOGRAPHICAL NOTES	___ 269